In statistical mechanics, Maxwell–Boltzmann statistics describes the average distribution of non-interacting material particles over various energy states in thermal equilibrium, and is applicable when the temperature is high enough or the particle density is low enough to render quantum effects negligible.. The expected number of particles with energy for Maxwell–Boltzmann statistics is

In classical statistical mechanics, the equipartition theorem relates the temperature of a system to its average energies.The equipartition theorem is also known as the law of equipartition, equipartition of energy, or simply equipartition.The original idea of equipartition was that, in thermal equilibrium, energy is shared equally among all of its various forms; for example, the average ...
